

GOLF COURSE ARCHITECTURE

Golf Course Architecture is published with the support and guidance of the European Institute of Golf Course Architects, the European Golf Course Owners Association and the American Society of Golf Course Architects.

European Institute of Golf Course Architects

The European Institute of Golf Course Architects represents Europe's most qualified and experienced golf course architects. The Institute's aims are to enhance the status of the profession, increase opportunities for its members and educate future golf course architects.
www.eigca.org

European Golf Course Owners Association

The mission of the European Golf Course Owners Association is to provide services to support golf course owners in their aims, represent their interests on a European level and improve the golf business on a European level.
www.egcoa.eu

American Society of Golf Course Architects

Formed in 1946 by Donald Ross, Robert Trent Jones and others, ASGCA is the professional organisation of North American golf course architects. The 180 architects who have achieved membership in the prestigious group have designed some of the world's greatest courses.
www.asgca.org

Printed in Great Britain by Stones the Printers, Wildmere Road, Banbury, Oxon, OX16 3ES

© 2008 Tudor Rose Holdings Ltd. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be stored or transmitted or reproduced in any form or by any means, including whether by photocopying, scanning, downloading onto computer or otherwise without the prior written permission from Tudor Rose Holdings Ltd.

Views expressed in Golf Course Architecture are not necessarily those of the publishers. Acceptance of advertisements does not imply official endorsement of the products or services concerned. While every care has been taken to ensure accuracy of content, no responsibility can be taken for any errors and/or omissions. Readers should take appropriate professional advice before acting on any issue raised herein.

Golf Course Architecture is published by Tudor Rose, Tudor House, 6 Friar Lane, Leicester, LE1 5RA, England. ISSN 1745-3585

Golf Course Architecture ISSN # 1745-3585. Published 4 times per year by Tudor Rose, 6 Friar Lane, Leicester, UK and distributed by US Mail Agent, Clevert Worldwide Mailers LLC, 7 Sherwood Ct., Randolph, NJ 07869. Subscription Price $70 per year. Periodicals Postage Paid at Dover NJ, 07801. Postmaster: Please send address changes to Golf Course Architecture, 7 Sherwood Ct., Randolph, NJ 07869

The publisher reserves the right to accept or reject advertising material and editorial contributions. The publisher assumes no liability for the return of unsolicited art, photography or manuscripts.

It is assumed that any images taken from sources which are widely distributed, such as on the Web, are in the public domain. It is recognised though that since such images tend to be passed freely between sources it is not always possible to track the original source. If copyrighted material has ended up being treated as public domain due to the original source not being identified please contact the publishers, Tudor Rose.

32

Robert von Hagge

After more than fifty years in the profession, there's little that American architect von Hagge hasn't seen. He tells us about eccentric clients, dealing with a boss who drank, and about finding Pete Dye measuring up one of his greens. And he finds time to explain some of his ideas about course design

40

Brown or green?

Sustainable golf has become the flavour of the month, as the industry begins to take its environmental image seriously. But are there other issues that need to be considered if golf is to be truly sustainable?

46

Back to the future

Golf in India has a longer history than anywhere outside the UK, but it is only now that the game has really started to take off. GCA visited the city of Bangalore to get a view of how the Indian golf market is shaping up

06 Tee Box

An exclusive look at Mark Parsinen's Castle Stuart project

21 The Player

Greg Norman tells us about environmental stewardship

22 The Pioneer

Desmond Muirhead's thoughts, by Forrest Richardson

28 The charm of par-free golf

Bruce Chambers says we should free our minds

31 Middle East still the star

Dubai golf continues growing, says Andrea Sartori

52 On Site

Sugarloaf Mountain, Luton Hoo, the Els Club and the renovations to Sunningdale Golf Club

72 Holing Out

Matt Osborne says architects have forgotten ordinary golfers

Subscribe

Subscribe for a year (four issues):

UK delivery » £19.80
Europe delivery » £27.80
Rest of the world delivery » £35.80

» Call our subscriptions team on: +44 116 222 9900
» Complete the online form at: www.golfcoursearchitecture.net

If you would like to order copies of back issues please call us on +44 116 222 9900 or visit our back issues page on the website.