

Contents

July 2010

www.golfcoursearchitecture.net

- 08 Tee Box reports on the start of construction at Donald Trump's much-heralded Scottish course. Plus new openings in Canada, Egypt, Holland, the US and Scotland. And our Tour Watch column visits Casa Serena in the Czech Republic in advance of the European Senior Tour event there.
- 20 Forrest Richardson writes about his mentor, Pioneer Arthur Jack Snyder.
- 29 The legendary blind par three Maiden hole at Royal St Georges features in our Lost Hole column.
- 31 French golf architect Robert Berthet says he believes golf can play a central role in town planning and urban regeneration.
- 32 China is the central focus of the global golf development industry at the moment, with courses being built and planned all over the world's most populous country. But is the country's golf boom built on firm foundations?
- 42 An audience with the King: Toby Ingleton quizzes Arnold Palmer about St Andrews, Pebble Beach and golf design in general.
- 46 Geoffrey Cornish is the last connection to golf design's pre-war Golden Age. Pete Galea talks to the world's oldest living golf architect, and the profession's greatest historian.
- 48 Golf in Poland has grown rapidly over the past decade. With lots of ideal terrain, is the Eastern European country a possible hotbed for future development? Toby Ingleton paid a visit.
- 56 Three Danish IT billionaires have built the Scandinavian club just outside Copenhagen. Adam Lawrence had a look at the club's two courses, and its impressive clubhouse.
- 60 The Eléa course in Cyprus will open this autumn. Adam Lawrence was the first journalist to see Faldo Design's work.
- 64 More photographs of Dream Greens submitted by GCA readers.